HOST GUIDE

How to use this pack

Before the party

- Print what you need on US Letter paper. Black-and-white works fine; cut-out cards look best on lightweight card stock but plain paper is fine too.
- Cut the cards along the dotted lines and sort them into four piles. A paper trimmer saves time.
- Gather pens, scrap paper, paper cups, balloons, cotton balls and a timer. Everything in the challenge cards uses ordinary household items.
- Make teams of two to four people for the challenges. Individual play works well for bingo.

Games in this pack

- Bingo. Hand out cards, call words from the Caller Sheet or draw Call Cards. Patterns are on the Caller Sheet.
- Countdown challenges. Draw one card per turn. Teams try it. Score 0 to 3 points on the Challenge Scorecard. The team with the most points picks the next song.
- Who is most likely to... Draw a card, read it aloud and count to three. Everybody points at the person they think fits best. No one keeps score; it is all about the laughs.
- Charades. Act out the card without speaking. Guess within 60 seconds to win a point.
- Toasts. Hand out the twelve toast cards before 11:45 p.m. and have guests read them aloud, with any drink they like.
- Predictions and Year in Review. Quiet keepsake games to fill in at a snack break. Seal the predictions and open them next year.
- Word games. Two word searches and a letter scramble, ideal for kids and for anyone who wants to sit one out.

Safety and good sense

Keep challenges safe: no standing on furniture, no hot items, and nothing that could be a choking risk for little ones. Sparklers and fireworks are not part of these games; if your family uses them, follow local rules and supervise closely. Any drinks and snacks are your choice; check for allergies.

KEEPSAKE

Predictions for the year ahead

Fill it in, seal it in an envelope, and open it together next New Year's Eve.

Name: _____ Date: _____

My year in three words

A place I will visit

A new skill I will learn

A book, show or game I will finish

Something I will let go of

A small habit I will keep

A prediction for someone at this party

A prediction for the world (a safe, silly one)

What I will say next New Year's Eve
